Aidan Kendrick named new chief executive officer of Peloton, the business-to-business data and event analytics platform that Peloton Interactive was acquired for $2.7 billion earlier this year. "It's incredibly difficult when you're so new and you're coming from a different world, to come in as a company that's not only had to work for years to get to where it is, but also to now come together and redefine your offering," said Ruzinsky. The startup already has significant developer support and is working 3e33713323
